

Children's Jewelry Warning

Please be aware that any cut or fire polished glass beads are likely to contain lead as part of the glass formula. Crystal rhinestones and Swarovski crystal products also contain lead. We strongly recommend that these items not be used in children's jewelry. Any finished children's jewelry retailed in the state of California, via store or internet sales, is prohibited by law from containing leaded components per Proposition 1681 effective September 1, 2007. See our website for further details on California state law as well as more information on lead poisoning in our Lead Hazard Info document:
